Count Your Blessings!

Congratulations to Kenzer Lewis! 2020 Eggnog Bottle Design Contest Winner

Kenzer is from Golden, Colorado, and a Freshman at Golden High School where her favorite subject is history. She would like to be an Interior Designer some day.

She has been interested in art since she was little, and takes classes and finds other ways to improve her skills. She also enjoys painting, photography, and playing soccer.

With her family, Kenzer likes to travel and go out on their boat. They have two dogs, Cash and Osby.

She likes Longmont Dairy Chocolate Milk and has never entered the Eggnog Bottle Design Contest before. Great job, Kenzer, and thanks for your fun design!

Dear Friends,

Thanksgiving is a time to celebrate the harvest. Traditionally, that means bringing in the crops that have been grown in fields or gardens, preserving the food and preparing for the long winter. Celebrating the fruits of the growing season that is now complete.

But in 2020, a year that has been so different than most, how did the harvest work out? Here are a few of the things I am hoping we've "harvested":

- I hope we never take for granted a warm hug or smile!
- I hope we embrace the good changes and open doors the pandemic brought.
- I hope virtual learning and meetings will afford working parents, especially those who travel, more family time.
- I hope we will all remember to treat each other with respect and kindness.
- I hope we won't take clean air or trips to the mountains for granted.
- I hope we will really appreciate gatherings—whether it is school, concerts, church, sports, or dining out.
- I hope we are more thoughtful about how we socialize, so we all stay healthy.
- Above all, I hope we remember that we have learned to bend without breaking!

We hope your Thanksgiving harvest celebration is especially heartfelt this year. From all of us at Longmont Dairy! Take care,

Susan

MOOO RECIPES

Heavenly Potatoes

An easy-to-make comfort food casserole your Thanksgiving dinner guests will think is heaven-sent.

- 3 lbs. potatoes
- ¼ cup Country Cream butter, softened
- ½ cup Longmont Dairy milk
- ¾ cup Longmont Dairy whipping cream
- 4 oz. Gruyere cheese, grated
- 4 oz. freshly grated Parmesan cheese
- parsley, chopped, for garnish

Heat oven to 400° F. Prick potatoes with fork and place directly on oven rack. Bake until soft and easily pierced with fork, about 45 minutes. Remove from oven, cool slightly, and split each potato in half lengthwise.

Grease a 9x13" or 3-quart baking pan. Scoop out potato flesh, add butter and milk, and mash with an electric mixer until smooth. Spread into prepared pan.

Increase oven temperature to 500° F. With an electric mixer, whip the cream until it forms soft peaks. Fold in Gruyere cheese by hand. Spread evenly over potatoes and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake until heated thoroughly and topping is golden brown, about 10 minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve warm.
